Visit the New York-New Jersey Trail Conference Headquarters at the historic Darlington Schoolhouse!

In April 2015, the Trail Conference officially completed the move into their new headquarters at the Darlington Schoolhouse in Mahwah, NJ. The Trail Conference has worked with many partners since 2004 to acquire, stabilize, restore, and repurpose the 124-year-old historical landmark, which borders the Ramapo Valley County Reservation and now helps to serve the organization's goal of protecting and promoting access to the outdoors.

Everyone is invited to stop by the new headquarters to purchase maps, books, and memberships, sign up for volunteer opportunities and workshops, or simply learn more about the organization. From the Ramapo Valley County Reservation parking lot, a short path near the parking lot entrance provides direct walking and bike access to the headquarters.

Even though we have officially moved in, we still need your support to finish the job. Please consider a donation to support this work! The headquarters will benefit not only our organization's staff and volunteers, but also the surrounding Mahwah community, visitors of adjacent parks, students at nearby Ramapo College, and many more.

As the organization enters its 95th year, the new headquarters will be the cornerstone from which the Trail Conference builds its second century of serving the region by making public lands more accessible. To learn more about our new headquarters or to make a contribution, please visit us! We are located at 600 Ramapo Valley Road, Mahwah, NJ, at the intersection of Ramapo Valley Road (Route 202) with Darlington Avenue.
